

Fridge Friend

A story about Maximus Gluteus
By: Conor Lane

Maximus Gluteus gets a lot of groceries and often buys for weeks at a time. Unfortunately he is losing track of when he gets certain foods and they are expiring and not edible.

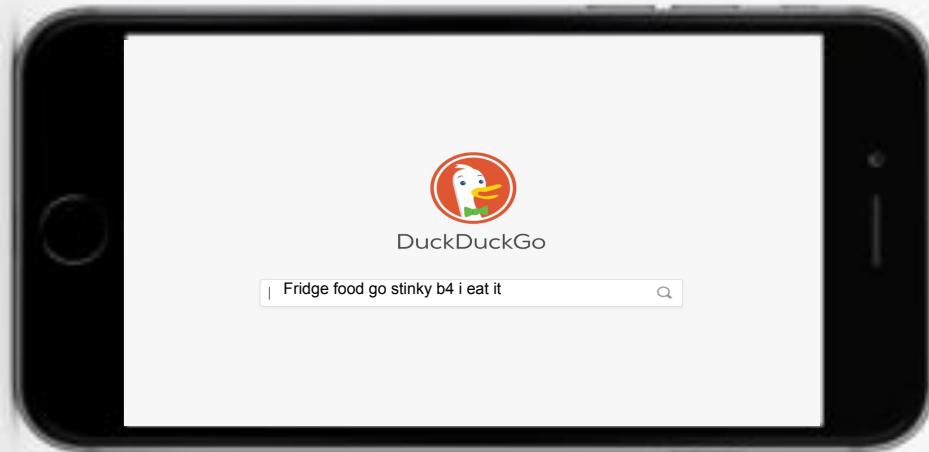

Maximus Gluteus gets the bright idea to track the expiration dates on his food so that he could keep track of the foods that expire quickly.

Fridge Friend!

Maximus searched low and high for the best application to keep track of his groceries!

With a simple search of the internet he came across the STATE OF THE ART technology known as FRIDGEFRIEND

Maximus opened up the app Fridge Friend and has inputted the foods that he got at the grocery store.

It gives him when the food will expire and when he bought it

With Fridge Friend. Maximus Gluteus is able to perform at the best of his ability with non-expired foods in his fridge!

Hunter is a father of 3 children and spends plenty of time in his house with his family.

He has trouble deciding what to cook for dinner and usually orders food when he is unable to find something to cook.

This has caused Hunter to have financial problems and he is looking for a solution.

Hunter's wife finds an app called Fridge Friend and tells Hunter to get it.

He downloads Fridge Friend and is immediately impressed.

Hunter uses the app prompts to help him buy groceries and get rid of any expired foods in his fridge.

Using the app, Hunter also is given numerous suggestions for what he could cook for dinner that night

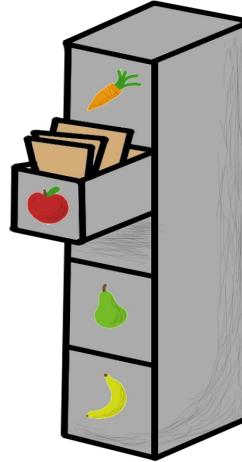

Fridge Friend recommends that Hunter should cook Burgers so he does.

Hunter is very impressed and glad he downloaded Fridge Friend.

The Story of Alexa Joannes

Dalton Price

Alexa spends most of her days
at home watching the real housewives.

While she sits on her lazyboy recliner she often times does some work for her pyramid scheme.

She tends to do this until it is time for her to get dinner
started before her husband
gets home

When the clock strikes precisely 4:15. Alexa gets out of her recliner to start preparing dinner for her husband and kids.

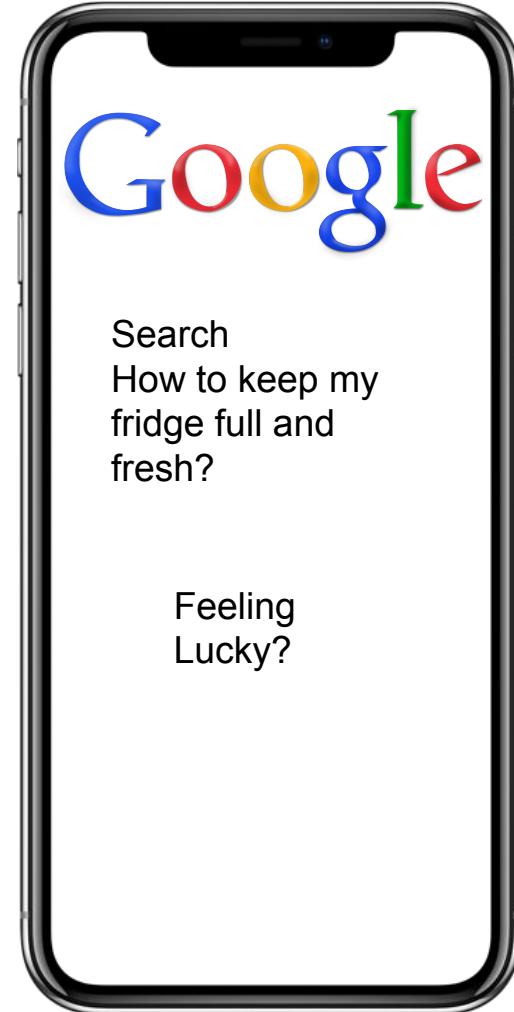

She opens the fridge door but alas. The fridge is almost empty and the only food inside is spoiled and has a weird smell to it.

In a heap of rage Alexa gets into her car and drives to Taco bell so that she can feed her family. She is ashamed of herself as today was tuesday. The day she made her special Taco Casserole and she had forgotten to run to the store.

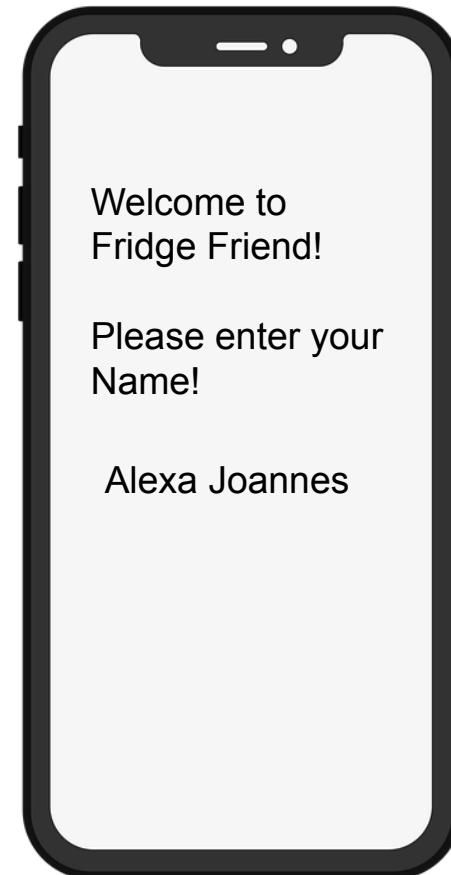

Swearing she will never let her family or herself down again she begins looking for ways she can remember to always keep her fridge stocked full of food and let it never rot again.

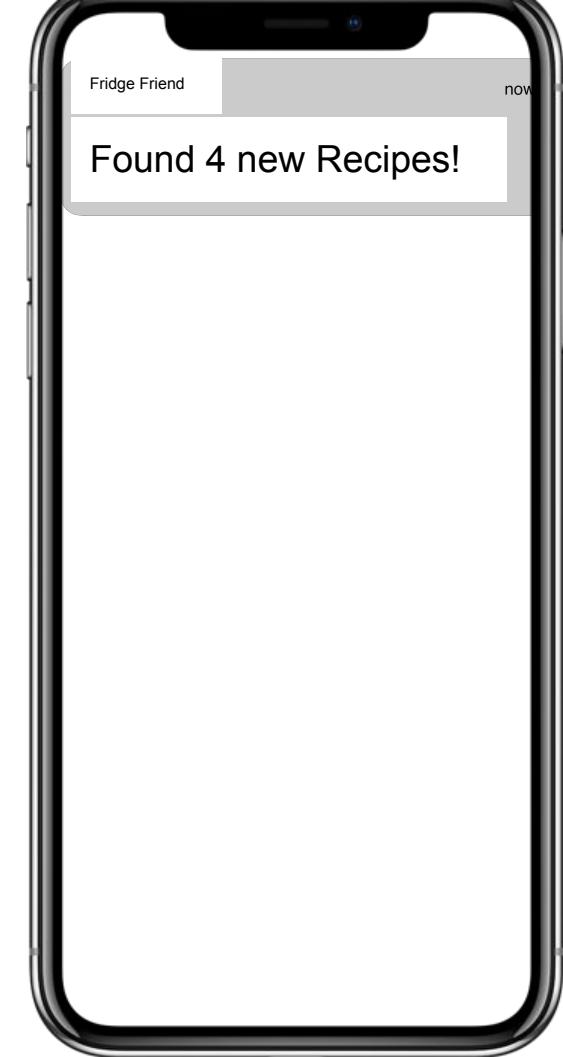

After searching on the internet for a few minutes she comes across an app that will help her keep her fridge full of fresh produce and never let it spoil again.

Alexa decides to download the app and use the 2 week free trial, because what could it hurt?

During the 2 weeks of her free trial she got constant alerts about the food in her fridge about to spoil. She was also surprised when it gave her new recipe ideas for all the ingredients she stocked into her fridge.

Alexa no longer has to depend on her silly little forgetful brain
get food and keep her fridge stocked because she pays for the $14.99 monthly subscription of fridge friend! Her family is happy and has full bellies now!

Eli Wheeler was coming home from her favorite grocery store for the fourth time this month because she keeps forgetting when things in her fridge will go bad

When she got home she began to empty her fridge of all the rotten food from the last time she had gone grocery shopping

As she was cleaning the fridge she decided she was going to do research
later on how to get automatic reminders of what she bought and
when it was going to go
bad

Thats when she found the popular new app, fridge friend. She was reading about how many other people just like her were helped by using the app and became very excited to begin using the app.

Now when Eli is walking through the store she can keep track of what she buys and the approximate time that it will go bad, so she always knows when to use it

Now with all the money
she is going to save she can afford to take her kids
to disney world

And with all the stress
that the app relieved her
from shes able to read more books and eat
better

Life of Susan P.

Jyesheria Hicks

Susan wakes up every morning and starts her day off by laying in her bed, drinking coffee with the Ellen Show on her tv while scrolling though her tinder account looking for her soulmate.

She recently just graduated college with a bachelor's degree in Information Technology at the University of South Virginia University. She really didn't start looking for jobs while in college in her field because she was prioritizing other things that are not important.

After looking for jobs all around,
Susan is having a hard time trying to find a job in her field because she is too worried about her love life and not getting the big mansion
and kids she want

Susan finally found a job in her field but she didn't keep the job long because she got fired for the lack of knowledge and improvement she was showing.

Months later, Susan decided to go back to school to get her master's in Information Technology but later on dropped because she said it's not for her anymore.

MONSTERS UNIVERSITY

She decided to get a job at the grocery store until she can get back on her feet and right back into a good, positive headspace.
